About

All women who took part in this project all have one thing in common - wanderlust. They've always dreamt of faraway lands and unimaginable opportunities, so one day they packed their suitcases and set off on an adventure. Young and carefree students, ambitious career women, lonely adventure seekers and naïve altruists. Some work as volunteers or serve rich Europeans in their homes, others are trying to find enlightenment by the ocean or climb their way up the career ladder in big international companies. What is life like for Russian women abroad? Did they get what they wanted? What are their current goals? What are they going to bring back to Russia and are they coming at all?

Take and Eat 16+

1 season	24	6	2014

About

Take and Eat is a pure cookery detective story. However, Anton Arens, the host of the show and the culinary blogger, looks for no treasures, but the unique recipes of national cuisines in every corner of the globe. When Anton selects the most traditional dish of some country, he starts searching for its most traditional, “classic”, recipe. He learns how to cook the dish properly, how to serve it and, what is more important, how to eat it. Spices, table wear, the suitable atmosphere or event are additional but necessary ingredients of every dish. Take and Eat is focused on traditional, “historic” dishes, which require knowledge and skill rather than equipment. That is why the show has no haute cuisine, luxury restaurants, notorious chefs and unexplored ingredients. What is essential – no tiny portions!

1 season	24	15	2010

About

What is Africa to taste? What is Italy dressed with? Why is Norway so salty? And why is Thailand so spicy? When you arrive in a new country, you learn what it is like to taste. Sometimes you want to come back to some city to recollect its taste rather than your cultural impressions. Travel Taste gives you a chance to learn and enjoy the tastes of various countries during your travel. Try the world to taste!

About

The next question following : “Where did you spend your vacation?” is: “What did you taste there?” And your friend starts with a picturesque description of local specialty which he or she happened to taste there. National cuisine and traditions can tell you a lot about local people and their life style. For example, do you know why the Japanese cuisine uses wasabi and soy-bean sauce so often? Why do Tai people add hot spices to all their dishes? Why do Asian people drink green tea? Travelers ask loads of “why” questions, and answers to them are always closely linked to climate, culture, people’s customs and ancient legends. The hosts of the show and well-known people will tell you not only about the cuisine traditions of various nations, they will also teach you how to cook local specialties.

1 season	24	4	2012

About

Italian cuisine, praised by poets and glorified by famous travelers and literature classicists, still brings us pleasure. The incomparable smells of the Italian dishes - rich and tart - stimulate your fantasy and appetite. To have a better understanding of Italy and Italians, you don't have to go to luxury restaurants to try original Italian food. It's better do it in the place where this food is taken by Italians. The popular Italian singer Al Bano Carrizi will tell you about Italy and Italians, their cuisine and a bit about his life in the show "Italian Lessons". You will find out what and how Italians eat, how they live, what games their children play etc.

About

A new travel-show declares war on the tourist stereotypes, dispels myths about resting abroad and offers the only original routes for travelling! The hosts become your personal guides – they check by own experience all local beauties listed in the guides and websites. At the same time they explore new places and show lots of possible ways to use imagination and save money. And the most important – they'll teach you how to make your journey fantastic, create unforgettable memories and get photos, your friends will envy for. On the second season the audience helps the hosts choose sightseeing and local entertainment to try. Katya and Leonid Morgunovs are going to snowboard down a volcano, take Kung Fu lessons from a Hollywood master and even taste a snake. Each episode the experienced travelers will have to do five tasks, including the ones chosen by the audience: two for each host and one for the both. The first season they travelled across Europe; this time they are exploring South-East Asia (Bangkok, Phnom Penh ...
